

Telelift: Providing Automated Solutions

Telelift, a German manufacturer of in-house conveying systems, provides the most up to date transport and logistics technology in hospitals. Transfusions, tissue samples, blood vials, sterile goods, IV-bags, files and prescriptions, vaccinations and any goods up to 15 Kg can be transported by a Telelift system. By operating a Telelift system, 90% of manual transport is changed to automation. The reduction of manual work results into strong increase of hospital hygiene and fully scheduled operations. It also provides a real-time overview of all goods being transported. A Telelift system removes elevator operation by 20% and operates very energy efficient (24V technology). Hygiene, noise development, system availability, transparency and costs. For all these areas a Telelift system grants the highest possible value compared to any other technology.

The key data for the latest generation of a Telelift system is:

- a transportation weight of up to 15 kilos
- a transportation volume of up to 40 litres
- a conveying speed of up to 1m/s
- a sanitised design
- internal UV radiation
- 100% monitoring
- minimal space requirement
- throughput of 300 containers per hour
- applicable for new and existing buildings AH

Long-term Supply Reliability – HELM Medical

Finding the right product in the right quality, time and availability is a challenge, given the rapid pace of market evolution. Reliable product supplies in consistent quality are rare; finding a supplier who can ensure a stable, long-term partnership is a crucial challenge for your business.

HELM Medical specialises in this field; ensuring reliable, sustainable medical product supplies is the company's mission. Benefitting from over 110 years' experience they will support you in securing reliable supply – right from the initial product concept, through analysing market demand, all the way to product approval and registration in major markets worldwide.

In Germany and over 30 other countries around the globe you can count on HELM Medical as your reliable partner for premium medical product supplies. Get in touch to find out what the company can do for you! AH

MORE INFO

For more information call +49 40 2375 2722 or email j.kortegast@helmag.com, or visit www.helm-medical.com, Nordkanalstrasse 28, D-20097, Hamburg, Germany

